

RADIX - Description of Research

Radix is an experimental CubeSat, providing a technology demonstration for ASI's laser communications downlink. Data will be downlinked by laser from the satellite to optical receiver stations in the US. This will validate and provide space heritage, for the ASI laser communications system.