Narrative Explanation of Operation and Course of Experimentation

Broadcast Sports International, LLC (BSI) is a preeminent video production company engaged in production of sports and other entertainment programming, electronic news gathering and program production for broadcast and other media distribution. It is routinely retained to provide video production at automobile racing events and professional golf tournaments in the United States. BSI has been asked by Bleacher Report to provide onboard systems for providing video, audio car at a race, for network broadcast purposes. It involves short-range transmission of video..

BSI needs to utilize a variety of frequency bands between 2.180 GHz and 2.290 GHz for low-power video and data emissions. Operation by BSI will be at very low power, typically 250 milliwatts TPO. All operation will be terrestrial with ground-mounted antennas.

There follows the event location and dates of proposed operation. Should any interference be reported to the Stop Buzzer contact, all operation will cease at that location and not resume unless and until the complainant is satisfied that the interference has been remediated or it is not caused by the BSI. At the end of the event the equipment will be removed and retained by BSI, without exception. The Stop Buzzer contact for each event will be Mr. Matt Butler, whose mobile telephone number is 410-693-593.
