

Supporting Information

This event takes place totally inside the National Center for Civil & Human Rights. This should shield emissions outside the facility significantly.