Good morning Nimesh,

My apologies for the delayed response, unfortunately the COVID 19 struck me and my family, it has been quite a struggle and difficult, but we have all recovered except my sister-in-law and she is doing better as if last week. I'm just now getting back to work and going through things.

Regarding the 1. on the list you sent. The overview is we are testing 2.5GHz antennas with various IoT devices. Which include water meters, electrical meters, environmental agriculture and soil devices. I will upload the file to show the overview.

Thank you for your support and understanding...David
