

02/20/2014

Overview of test program:

Cisco Systems will be evaluating Femtocells as part of our product development. These products for consideration of adoption to our product line as well as for FCC compliance

These products will be tested indoor mainly in shielded rooms when possible, any over the air testing will be done at low power and coordinated with the carriers as needed.

Testing will be confined to minimum requirements as to allow complete evaluation of the product, demonstrate to potential customers and for compliance testing only.

As these products are in engineering development, we are requesting confidentiality as part of this license and to prevent pre mature announcement of products or concept products.