

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
Experimental Licensing Branch
445 12th Street, S.W., Room 7A-321
Washington, D.C. 20554

May 19, 2020

Attn: Keller McCrary
Clear Call Communications, Inc.
13465 Midway Road, Suite 201
Dallas, TX 75244

DISMISSED-WITHOUT PREJUDICE

Dear Keller McCrary,

This refers to application, File No. 0810-EX-ST-2020, for an experimental authorization.

You are advised that the Commission is unable to grant your application for the facilities requested. Please see Section 5.59(b) of the 47 CFR and contact the Media Bureau to file your application and use the FCC Form 309. Contacts are Jim Bradshaw, Al Shuldiner and Holly Saurer.

Here are some examples that others use to extend their service coverage.

1. Have churches contact their local broadcasters to see if they would be willing to carry church services as part of the station's programming.
2. See if the churches can provide the same service via live streaming on the internet. And, to the extent that a request is from a hospital, a lot of people driving up are likely to have smartphones and can get online content. Apparently YouTube has a capability for users to live stream that is fairly simple. Live streaming should be available to anyone with a fairly new mobile phone.
3. "Call-to-listen" services that do not require an internet connection. One such service (no endorsement) is Zeno Media (<https://www.zenomedia.com/call-to-listen/>)

Responses to this correspondence must contain the Reference number : 55337

Sincerely,

Anthony Serafini
Chief
Experimental Licensing Branch