

GX4000 Field Test Signal Experiment

The purpose of the GX4000 Field Test Signal is to capture performance results of the radio link in actual environmental elements over a 60 day window. Data collected will be reviewed against analysis data to verify performance over the 3 mile distance. This information will provide a contribution to understanding wireless path designs.

