

AMENDED EX I

Exhibit I

Globecomm Systems, Inc.
FCC Form 442
(Supplement to Question 10)

- a) As a manufacturer and supplier of Earth Terminal Equipment, as well as a supplier of Internet capability through its subsidiary, NetSat Express, Inc., Globecomm is constantly developing and testing new applications for its customers. These include wireless access using VSAT to access corporate LANs, the Internet, and other types of wide area networking applications from areas where alternative methods of access are not available.

- b) The grant of this application will permit short duration transmission and reception, point-to-point and multi-point, from various points in the Continental United States with Globecomm's licensed facility in Hauppague, New York. The facilities proposed in the application will first be operated from Beeville, Texas.

Dear Mr. Young:

Globecomm Systems, Inc. ("Globecomm"), by its attorney, hereby amends its application for an experimental authorization, FCC File Number 6234-EX-PL-1998, to reflect that the proposed facilities will transmit in the 14.0-14.5 Mhz band and receive in the 11.7-12.2 Mhz band. An amended page 2 of FCC Form 442 is included. Please amend Globecomm's Special Temporary Authority request to reflect this change, as well.

Please direct any questions to the undersigned.

Sincerely,

Michelle A. McClure
