1. The application has been amended in ELS to add ERP and bandwidth data for each of the two base station models and for four of the five mobile unit models (information is not available from the vendor for one experimental model), within each frequency band specified. Power is given as maximum mean power the devices are capable of emitting, per antenna.

2. Google understands that a grant will be conditioned on coordination with affected licensees, and is engaged in discussions to satisfy that obligation.
