NARRATIVE STATEMENT

Applicant desires to utilize an experimental wireless communication device in conjunction with laptop computer equipment for research, development and customer acceptability of wireless data transfer. The experimental device will use PCS cellular frequencies and will be similar in operation to a cellular telephone. Applicant will utilize a cellular carrier in each geographic area that the experimental device will be utilized.

Applicant will utilize Novatel Wireless, Inc. wireless IP modems to conduct the experiment.

Successful testing and development of the experimental device will contribute to the further development of radio art by allowing personal computer users to operate systems utilizing wireless data transmission.
