Message:

There will be two-way communication between Iridium's fixed ground stations and its non-geostationary space station constellation (call sign S2110) during the testing/demonstrations. Iridium is seeking experimental authority only for the fixed ground stations to transmit to and receive from its space stations. Iridium is not seeking experimental authority for its space stations to transmit to and receive from its ground stations, which will occur under the authority of Iridium's Part 25 license for its space station constellation.
