Message:

Mr. Ghaffari,

Thank you for your email. Microsoft proposes making available as the stop buzzer a group alias email address, oscell@microsoft.com, that will be monitored by the members of the nine-person experimental support team during testing. Using a group alias email serves all parties' interests because it will enable many individuals to monitor for and address promptly any interference concerns. However, please let me know if you require contact information for a single individual as the stop buzzer, and Microsoft would be pleased to provide this information.

Respectfully submitted,
Daniel Kahn
Counsel for Microsoft
