

Description

This experiment will use radio frequency to identify items, capture specific information about items and then send the information to an entity that would process and analyze it. The experiment system power output is less than or equal to 1 Watt and operates in the 902 MHz to 928 MHz frequency band.