

Answer to Question 4

Subsequent to the transfer of control, the licensee will retain its continuing and separate existence. It will retain its present name and state of formation.