Our experimental license WA2XTB lapsed due to administrative inattention. We had received a five year license term in August of 2006 and wrongly focused on that date for renewal rather than the actual date of January 2011. Is there a reason the term was shortened from 5 years?

The current filing requests a new license for 5 years be granted with all of the same particulars we've been using since 1998. We are a maritime STCW training school and use GMDSS consoles/transmitters as part of our U.S. Coast Guard required GMDSS training. Previous correspondence related to WA2XTB filings follow in another attached document.

Sincerely,
