

Experimentation Description

Radiometrics Corporation builds radar winds profilers. For international customers one typical frequency is 1290 MHz. Instruments need to be tested prior to export. Radiometrics has built several of these radars and always coordinated with the FAA for their testing.