

The antennae within this network will be GPS compatible, allowing for multiple-system operation on the same frequency band. Ideally, we would be granted the same frequencies for all locations, so we can feasibly run all systems on the same frequency. We are applying for ten frequencies, in the event that if at one location more noise exists at a particular frequency, we can try another licensed frequency band.