

The purpose of applying for this experimental license is to be able to perform both both ground and flight tests for various systems that our company installs in customer aircraft.

Testing will occur along the I-81 corridor route shown in the illustration below:

