

Note in the aerial photograph of the Braker One complex, that Trident Research is located in a light industrial complex, with no neighboring police, fire, or other emergency vehicle or dispatch facilities within 0.3 km radius. In addition, nearby businesses include a book editing company and counseling facility, neither of which would be affected by RF emissions.

