

From: Matthew McCord

To: Nimesh Sangani

Date: November 17, 2021

Subject: Additional Information Request

---

Message:

The National Science Foundation award funding this program is specifically intended for field campaigns across the country. This mobile weather radar will be used to study severe weather that forms rapidly such as tornadoes and hurricanes. These types of events occur across a wide geographic area and are typically only predicted hours or days in advance, which does not leave enough time to apply for an STA or add additional locations to an existing license. How would you advise we proceed for this new system?