

QUESTION 12: STATEMENT OF APPLICANT CLASSIFICATION

Virginia Tech is a public research university with a graduate research program in engineering accredited by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology. The university is home to Wireless@Virginia Tech, a multi-disciplinary research group of world-leading engineering faculty and students with a 26-year history of solid research results and innovation. Virginia Tech is among the “serial” holders of experimental licenses with demonstrated expertise in radio spectrum management.

The program area identified in our license application is our main campus area and its surrounding areas (up to 35 Km radius).