

Government Interest

Major General Andrew W. O'Donnell, Jr., USMC (ret) has expressed an interest in this program and is supportive of the experimental test activity.

Major General Andrew W. O'Donnell Jr. retired from active duty 1 Oct 2015 from his final assignment as Deputy Commanding General, Marine Corps Combat Development Command, Quantico, VA. He was commissioned via the Platoon Leaders Class from East Carolina University in May 1980.

Major General Andrew W. O'Donnell Jr. has background as the Chief Operational Test Director while at HMX-1 (helicopters and radios) and was also in charge of all Marine Corps requirements while at MCCDC, Quantico.

Commanding General, 3d MAW(FWD) in support of Operation Enduring Freedom in Afghanistan, the Commanding General of 3d MAW and the Deputy Commander, United States Forces, Japan.

Major General Andrew W. O'Donnell, Jr., USMC (ret)
 Mooresville, NC.
 (571) 247-6628
 odonnell46@msn.com