

Justification for 5 Year Experimental License

Our facility is applying for a 5 year license because of several reasons. Our site is in the business of long term testing of RFID equipment. The equipment we foresee testing will be at the frequencies listed in the application. The license is for a division of an RFID manufacturing company, whose equipment is needed to be operated at all of the global regulations including but not limited to Europe and Asia. As the company grows over the next several years it will become more and more necessary to begin testing at other RFID frequencies, and at wider bandwidths. This is the reason for the extensive scope of the license, and also the extended duration of the license.
