Anthony A. and Tony S.:

This is to confirm my understanding - after discussing the matter today with Anthony A. - that the above-referenced band will be ready for grant as of Friday, assuming no objections are received by that time. As indicated in the e-mail chain below, Air Force has requested (and BAE Systems has consented to) the following exclusions from the subject 1215-2700 MHz band:

1215-1240 MHz
1760-1842 MHz
2200-2300 MHz

Thanks again for your assistance with respect to this issue.

Best regards,

Jeffrey

Tony:

As you know, BAE Systems recently was able to agree to the carve-outs and conditions placed on the 1215-2700 MHz band by the Air Force. Do you anticipate being able to supplement the prior grant with these new frequencies/conditions in the near future? Just checking....

Thanks again

Mr. Serafini:

BAE Systems has confirmed that the carve-outs identified by Ms. Swan in her prior e-mail are acceptable in that the remaining frequencies will still provide the capabilities required by the applicant in the relevant band. Accordingly, it would be greatly appreciated if you could proceed with the grant of the permitted frequencies as a supplement to the prior grant under File No. 0107-EX-PL-2004.

Thanks to you, Mr. Asongwed, Ms. Swan and Ms. Hosford for your resolution of this issue.

Best regards,

Jeffrey Rummel

Mr. Rummel,

Thank you for providing the amplifying information. It has assisted us greatly in evaluating the FCC request.

We have found the following with regard to NG 048426:

Your client, BAE has requesting to for an assignment that includes the band 1215-2700 MHz.

- In order to protect the Federal capability of the Space Ground Link Subsystem (SGLS) facility at New Boston, NH, Air Force requires that BAE "notch out" e.g., exclude the following frequency bands:

1760-1842 MHz
2200-2300 MHz

In addition, Air Force requests that BAE exclude 1215-1240 MHz to protect the Global Positioning System (GPS) constellation.

If you would request your client to have the FCC make the appropriate changes to the existing proposal, Air Force will notify the NTIA/FAB that we can accept the non-Government assignment parameters detailed in the proposal, NG 048426.
