

Question 7 Purpose of Experiment

- a) Using existing ISM Band radio circuits, develop high speed radio data link that would transfer digital machine control data with minimum latency.
- b) Test high speed radio link described above for commercial viability.
- c) Data latency affects machine control accuracy and stability. These experiments will contribute to understanding how to minimize data latency in a packet format low-power ISM radio link.