

The purpose of this program is to explore the band in which many other countries have allocated to amateur radio operators, and to implement technologies to improve ultra-weak signal techniques.

The objectives of this program are to: implement SDR(Software Defined Radio) for weak signal communications, and to Develop more noise tolerating ultra narrow bandwidth data transmission systems.