In response to your email on 4/21/2017 that asked me to "Please verify the start/end date of the experiment on this application. The application must be submitted fifteen business days prior to operation.", I would state the start and end date to be as soon as possible. The customer needed the 19th of April but that has passed and if the 15 business day statement is required then I guess April 28th would be the date of testing but the client has to reconfigure the system for next stage of testing towards their FDA approvals or something, and so can we make it for Monday the 24th or Tuesday the 25th?
