REQUEST FOR CONFIDENTIAL TREATMENT

Ms. Marlene H. Dortch
Secretary
Federal Communications Commission
45 L Street, NE
Washington, DC 20554

Re: Flock Group Inc.
Application for Special Temporary Authority under Part 5 of the Commission's Rules

Dear Ms. Dortch:

In connection with the attached Application for Special Temporary Authority under Part 5 of the Commission's Rules ("Application"), Flock Group Inc., ("Flock") respectfully requests that the FCC withhold from public inspection, and grant confidential treatment to the contents of Exhibit B of the Application, which is marked as confidential ("Confidential Information").

Flock is furnishing proprietary and confidential experimental information that it does not make available for public inspection. Pursuant to Section 552(b) of the Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"),¹ including FOIA Exemption 4 (protecting from disclosure "trade secrets and commercial or financial information"),² and Sections 0.457 and 0.459 of the FCC's rules,³ such information should be withheld from public inspection.

In accordance with Section 0.459 of the FCC's rules, Flock supports its request as follows:

(1) Identification of the specific information for which confidential treatment is sought:

Flock seeks confidential treatment for Confidential Information submitted with its Application, which includes detailed non-public information about the development and testing of new experimental products.

(2) Identification of the Commission proceeding in which the information was submitted or a description of the circumstances giving rise to the submission:

Flock is seeking Special Temporary Authority to test the technical and market viability of experimental equipment.

² 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(4).

³ 47 C.F.R. §§ 0.457, 0.459.

(3) Explanation of the degree to which the information is commercial or financial, or contains a trade secret or is privileged:

All of the proprietary commercial and operational Confidential Information included in the Application is kept confidential by Flock. To the extent such information is made available to customers, participants in the proposed experimental trials, or other third parties, such information is similarly kept confidential by the respective parties. Confidential Information is not disclosed to the public in the ordinary course because it relates to Flock's highly sensitive research and development operations and the safety of its law enforcement and first responder customers that rely on Flock's products, and the communities they serve.

(4) Explanation of the degree to which the information concerns a service that is subject to competition:

Flock competes in a highly competitive public safety technology sector. Competition has rapidly expanded in recent years, driven by technological advances and growing adoption by law enforcement and first responder agencies seeking more efficient, real-time operational tools. Flock invests heavily in product innovation and research and development, and seeks to gain competitive advantages from developing unique service offerings and products with cutting-edge features and capabilities.

(5) Explanation of how disclosure of the information could result in substantial competitive harm:

As the market has grown, competition has intensified, with a growing number of vendors offering competing hardware, software, and integrated service solutions. The resulting crowded supplier landscape has increased choice for buyers and reinforced competitive pressure on innovation and pricing. Disclosure of the Confidential Information would have a substantial adverse impact on Flock because it would provide access to sensitive and proprietary information about potential future products and features, as well as Flock's testing conditions, customer base, and marketing plans. This information is not publicly disclosed in the ordinary course and could be used to Flock's detriment by its competitors to gain any form of competitive advantage.

(6) Identification of any measures taken by the submitting party to prevent unauthorized disclosure:

Flock does not publicly disclose the Confidential Information contained in the Application in the ordinary course, and any party with which Flock shares Confidential Information is subject to strict contractual confidentiality obligations.

(7) Identification of whether the information is available to the public and the extent of any previous disclosure of the information to third parties:

Flock does not make the Confidential Information available to the public or to any third parties, except for any third parties with which it has direct contractual relationships. As discussed in #6, any such relationship is bound by strict contractual confidentiality obligations.

(8) Justification of the period during which the submitting party asserts that the material should not be available for public disclosure:

Flock requests permanent confidential treatment and non-disclosure. This is merited because it is impossible to predict when the information contained in the Application would no longer be useful to Flock's competitors or bad actors who may seek to misuse this information.

For the foregoing reasons, Flock submits that good cause exists to grant this request for confidential treatment. Accordingly, Flock urges the FCC to grant this request and withhold the Confidential Information from public inspection. To the extent that the FCC disagrees and denies this request, Flock requests that the enclosed materials be returned to it without consideration, pursuant to Section 0.459(e) of the FCC's Rules.⁴

Enclosed with this application is an unredacted and a redacted version of Exhibit B. Please direct any questions or inquiries regarding this matter to the undersigned.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Katy J. Milner
