Message:

Doug,

The previous STA extension was due to COVID-19 related manufacturing delays that delayed the start of our testing. We were not able to begin our testing until July 2021, halfway through the previous STA's window. We have had further component delays that requires us to perform some additional testing over the next few months.

This hardware is being delivered to the USMC customer in late Winter (February-March) 2022, so the testing conducted from the instant STA extension will be over in less than six months. If there is any additional testing required after the hardware delivery that will be a different scope of effort and would be filed as a new, separate License on Form 442.

Also, please advise if the filing fee paid for the previous filing 0582-EX-CR-2021 made by mistake is sufficient for this STA extension, or if a separate fee must also be paid.

Regards,
John Burger
