

- a) The project is to develop UHF communication protocols for use on future government business.

- b) To demonstrate link performance in an outdoor (non-lab) environment to characterize specific system degradations such as multipath and external interferences.
- c) This project implements a Lockheed Martin proprietary protocol which promises to deliver robust communication over disadvantaged RF links to support future government programs.