

Exhibit A

Marine Corp Requested Test and Demonstration

Two Site Capabilities

Lockheed Martin will be demonstrating a cellular technology system at the request of interested Department of Defense, Marine Corp. The Demonstration of this new technology system, cellular technology and its integrated components, to display the effectiveness of the system for demonstration of two site capability. Projected start date is February 15, 2012.