

From: ELB
To: FCCMAIL.SMTPNLM("jimm@Metricom.com")
Date: 10/1/98 5:09pm
Subject: RE: Alteration of an experimental license application. -Reply
-Reply

Mr. Morrison,

We can accept your e-mail message as an amendment to your application. This may add some extra time to our processing, though.

Doug Young
Electronics Engineer
FCC Experimental Licensing Branch

>>> Jim Morrison <jimm@Metricom.com> 10/01/98 02:36pm >>>

Doug,

Can this be done electronically ?
I would like to change the power from 100 Watts to 1000 Watts EIRP. This falls within the part 27 rules for the spectrum we purchased.

James Morrison
System Engineering
Deployment Development
(408)-399-8462

> -----Original Message-----
> From: ELB [SMTP:ELB@fcc.gov]
> Sent: Wednesday, September 30, 1998 1:37 PM
> To: jimm@Metricom.com
> Cc: nhey@fcc.gov
> Subject: Alteration of an experimental license application. -Reply
>
> Mr. Morrison:
>
> You may submit any amendment to your application directly to our office > at any time prior to grant of the application. Please address your > request > to:
>
> Federal Communications Commission
> OET/NTDD/ELB
> 2000 M St., N.W., Suite 230
> Washington, DC 20554
>
> Doug Young
> Electronics Engineer
> FCC Experimental Licensing Branch
>
> >>> Jim Morrison <jimm@Metricom.com> 09/29/98 05:16pm >>>
>
>
> Dear Sir,
>
>
> I have submitted an application for an experimental license.
> Though > it has not been granted yet, I have to alter my application. The > application number is 6193-EX-PL-1998. What is required to alter the > application ?
>