the answer is a qualified yes. The demonstrated equipment is ussually for a Television Station that currently has a license and will have to modify that license. They will have or will modify the license to show the new equipment.

States , Cities and Towns normally do not have licenses and will have or will obtain licenses before we will release the equipment to them.

The Army,Navy and other U.S. Government users will normally have obtained permission to operate when they obtained the funding for the project.
