SUBJECT: Description of Government Contracts Related to Experimental License Application

United States Air Force contract number FA8721-05-C-0002 is the prime contract under which MIT Lincoln Laboratory operates.

Department of Homeland Security IAA number HSHQPM-13-X-00107 provides funding for a research effort to develop systems to improve security in surface transportation environments. The contract includes development of a low power microwave imaging radar for concealed threat detection, an effort which requires this experimental license.
