

Question 6.

The communication link is required for Telemetry, Tracking and Command of the satellite. The communication is also required to upload and download test data between the ground system and the satellite. The data will be germane to the experiment or testing which is the focus of the mission.