

EXHIBIT II

The reason for the frequency change is based on the equipment supplier's inability to obtain filters for the originally requested transmit/receive separation. The new mobile frequency assignment will allow sufficient transmit/receive separation for the radio equipment proposed.

All other parameters remain the same.

An interference analysis was performed to identify that the proposed frequencies should not cause harmful interference to existing UHF-TV licensees in the vicinity of the Herndon, VA site.