Dear Colleagues,

After further review by our technical team, the use of the letter "X" in our emission designator was an error. The correct emission designator for all the modulating signals in the application is "G7W".

We'd like to proceed by amending the application to correct the emissions designators to "G7W". Would it be easier for you if I make these changes directly through the "Amend/Complete Application" page on the FCC OET website or if you make the requested changes to the application?

Thank you for your continued assistance.
