To whom it may concern:

Pursuant to FCC Part 15 subpart 15.7, Philips Consumer Electronics Company is requesting that the Commission authorize a special temporary authority (STA) for Philips to conduct open field RF radiated immunity measurements on a commercial machine located at ITW Dynatec , 31 Volunteer Drive, Hendersonville Tennessee 37075. The purpose of this test will be to analyze the RF immunity of a commercial machine to show compliance with European EMC regulations. (IEC 1000-4-3).

Philips Consumer Electronics Company is requesting a STA to transmit RF energy at the maximum allowable EPR (watts) in the following frequency band:

80 MHz through 1.0 GHz, 80% AM modulated with a 1KHz sinewave, Both horizontal and vertical antenna polarization.

Philips would like to perform this testing March 13, 2001 through April 20, 2001 between the hours of 8:00 AM to 11:00 PM.

The actual testing should not require more than twelve hours; however, we are requesting the extra time in the event that the machine fails the initial test and re-testing is required.

The tests will be performed at:

ITW Dynatec
31 Volunteer Drive
Hendersonville, Tennessee 37075
