Hello John:

I have requested 15 locations because we would like to set up trial links at locations where potential customers may be based. The intent of this experiemntal request is both for technical as well as commercial reasons. Also, these diverse locations have different weather patterns, especially rain effects which can be localized.

We would like to set up trial links at these locations for short periods of time, less than three months typical, and offer potential customers in the area to directly view link performance.
