

Purpose of the network?

The purpose of this network is twofold.

This network will provide a realistic urban environment for testing new designs for cellular radio access networks manufactured by Range Networks, an equipment provider based in San Francisco.

This network will provide a testbed for new applications to support first responders and disaster recovery workers. To support this aspect of the experiment, Range Networks is cooperating with the City of San Francisco's Neighborhood Emergency Response Team program.

Range Networks, Inc.

0266-EX-PL-2013