Form 442 Question 7: Experimentation Description:

Use the following for the purpose of the experiment:

The Integra TR radios will be used as modems to provide differential GPS data between a fixed base station and a mobile remote station to a mobile receiver. Use of this system will generate precision locations coordinates and velocity vectors of the mobile station with respect to the mobile receiver.

When in use, the radios will transmit in 50 to 200 millisecond bursts, repeating every second.
