To what extent does the planned market trial transcend the existing network? What is the justification for a market trial that appears to be in similar communities?

Given that to test upgradability of equipment, you need to do this only per equipment type and to do a market trial, you only need to sample a portion of the market, explain the size of the requested market trial.

If a market trial is granted, it is not likely that we would extend the trial beyond the initial term requested.
