

Project Description

The research project will use the WERA HF Radar system which will provide simultaneous measurement of ocean surface currents and ocean waves. The system will provide oceanographic data within a 120-degree Radar coverage area which can extend up to 200km.