The purpose of this experiment is to demonstrate the efficient wireless distribution of training video to students at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC) in Brunswick, GA. FLETC is a rural federal facility with limited wireless access. They train 70,000 federal law enforcement and security personnel each year. We will demonstrate how one-to-many broadcast of training materials and video will improve access and efficiency without stressing their internal networks.

The scope of service under 47C.F.R. §5.3 falls under sections B-experimentations in the broadcast service and E-Technical demonstrations of equipment or techniques.
