Doug, basically it the same type of demonstrations to the military. The most obvious changes of course is instead of doing these tests around Columbus, MS, they will be conducted in Wainwright and Deadhorse, Alaska. Very remote areas on the northern tip of Alaska.

We have a larger area of operation we would like to use - of 400km radius around these locations. As noted in the explanation, the tests will be conducted while the flights are out over the water. Lastly, we are requesting a slightly increased frequency range.

Hope this helps some. Let me know.
