Approval of this application will allow The Boeing Company to begin testing the Primus 701A weather RADAR while the equipment continues to be processed through the Department of Defense equipment certification process. The requirement supports the Navy military contract N00019-05-C-002. This will allow The Boeing Company to continue the integration of this weather RADAR system for the V-22 aircraft. We will forfeit this grant once military certification is complete and frequency authorization has been obtained from the military.
