

Description of Operations

File # 0729-EX-ST-2014

The device will be used in a controlled laboratory environment for research/development testing of RFID tags that will be used on aircraft in European nations. Candidate RFID tags will be tested for sensitivity to range, position and environmental conditions. The device will also be used to test/ develop software for use of the device by foreign airlines in their respective countries.