

Exhibit 2.

Justification for Fee Waiver

This project is conducted by the University of Massachusetts, a state university, for the United States Government. The project is not for profit, and the results of experiments will be publicly available in university theses and in journal publications.