FCC application 0021-EX-PL-2006

---

Message:

We would like to withdraw the request for operations in the 1240-1350 MHz band in our application. Operations in this band are not supported by our current experimental hardware design as subsequent to the original application we judged it unnecessary to gather experimental data in this region to meet the needs of our research. Hence any need for operations in this band has terminated. With deletion of this band there is also no longer need for coordination with the FAA.

Should we file an amended complete application with this portion of the request removed or should we simply add an attachment stating the above.
