

This Form 703 application for the transfer of control to Northrop Grumman Corporation of XonTech, Inc., licensee of experimental station WC2XKA, is not timely filed. Northrop Grumman Corporation completed its acquisition of XonTech Inc. on July 24, 2003, but only recently became aware of this experimental license. Northrop Grumman Corporation is committed to ensuring compliance with the Communications Act and the Commission's rules. Northrop Grumman has reminded its officials that the Commission must grant its consent to an application for transfer of control before completing an acquisition. Had Northrop Grumman Corporation been aware of the existence of this license before the acquisition, the required application would have been timely filed with the Commission.
